

bonus deposito poker

Originally Posted by Gillingham would you start off with equilab and move through a few different software programmes if you were trying to climb up the zoom levels?

I'm going to put up two or three posts in this thread with one link per post. Start off with FREE and move to PAID as soon as you have a good understanding of the free basic version. The PAID version will serve you well at all stake levels - the difference in the two versions is substantial, but frankly the vast majority of players [over 97%?] haven't got the work ethic + analytical mindset needed to truly benefit from any of the analysis tools out there. The same is true for poker tracker s/ware & HUD users - something like 90% or more of users are clueless about the reports & opponents analysis potential of the trackers - they half understand the table HUD stats that's all. This is good news for me as the under use & misuse of HM2/PT4 has created a vast army of exploitable, multi-tabling nitty regs - they are in fact the fish these days & have been so for a few years as they grind out their bonus whoring 2 bb/100 miserable lives. There's two free versions of, one for Hold'em & the other for Omaha. The info link & the download link for each are in this section near the bottom of this page: higher up in the same page that I've linked above in the you'll find info & download links. If you compare the two [read the two "info" links carefully] you'll quickly appreciate the differences.

-----

Autor: jamescall.com

Assunto: bonus deposito poker

Palavras-chave: bonus deposito poker

Tempo: 2024/10/20 15:13:15